Dear Sir:

I beg to advise that your communication regarding the collection of English coins owned by you has been referred to one of our Fellows who is interested- Virgil M. Brand, Esq., of Chicago, Illinois. He informs us that he will communicate with you through his representative in England- possibly Spink & Sons although I am not sure of this- and that any negotiations hereafter will be handled through his agent or direct.

Should you have heard nothing from Mr. Brand after an interval of six weeks to two months, kindly write me again.

Thanking you for calling this opportunity to our attention, I am,

Very respectfully yours,

Secretary.

Dear Sir:-

Response to your communication of January 28th has been delayed because I really had nothing to report. I wrote again to Mr. Brand upon receipt of your note, but he is very slow about writing, and outside of a word that he would have his London agent look up the matter, we have heard nothing.

Mr. Howland Wood, our Curator, is to be in London through June and July studying at the British Museum. If you should be there during that time, you may care to introduce yourself to him and lay the situation before him.

Regretting that I am not able to send you a more satisfactory reply, I am,

Very respectfully yours,

Secretary.
